SIGMA DELTA CHI TO OFFER AWARD

Editor of Kampus Kat Urges
Students to Submit Contributions for Home-Coming Edition

Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, will offer an award of one dollar each for the best short story and the best poem submitted for the homecoming edition of the Kampus Kat, which will be issued for the Duke-Kentucky game, November 7. Articles submitted must be written by students of the university, the short story not to exceed 500 words, and the poem not longer than 50 lines.

Short stories, verse, jokes, and humorous essays will be considered for publication by the editor, but no smutty or off-color stories, or "blackmail" or "spite" stories will be accepted. Material submitted should be left with William A. Shafer, editor, or at the journalism office.

The next issue of the Kampus Kat will contain 16 pages, and will be in the form of a magazine, printed on book paper of superior quality, and attractively bound. The contest sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi is only a part of a campaign by the members to arouse interest of the student body in the only humorous publication at the university.

With an increase of interest manifested by students, the publication will be improved consistently. The journalistic organization hopes to publish, in the near future, a humorous publication which will compare favorably with those of the larger universities of the country, the officers state.

The homecoming issue of the Kat will be on sale on the campus the morning of November 7, and at the football game in the afternoon. Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity will again have charge of the sales. Students may order copies in advance, enclosing the price, 10 cents a copy, with their orders, and the publication will be delivered.

4-H CLUB PARTY

Members of the 4-H club of the university will entertain with a party from 8 o'clock until 11 o'clock tonight at the judging pavilion on the experiment station farm. All former members of 4-H clubs are invited to attend.

The club party has been substituted for the picnic given annually by that organization in the past. Members of the 4-H club department will act as chaperones. There are approximately 300 former club members at the university.

U. K. Speaker

JOHN H. FINLEY

Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times, will be the principal speaker at the formal dedication ceremonies for the new library which will be held at 3 o'clock the afternoon, on the lawn in front of the new building. Doctor Finley was educated at Knox College and was president of New York University for eight years. During the World War he was head of the American Red Cross in Palestine and the Near East and received the decoration of the French Legion of Honor.

STROLLERS HOLD AMATEUR NIGHT

Marjorie Weaver, James Jacobs, Are Winners in 1931 Dramatic Competition

FOUR PLAYS STAGED

Cuddling her way to the hearts of the judges Marjorie Weaver, dark-eyed Kappa Delta freshman swept off the training school auditorium stage last night the vivacious winner in the Strollers' 1931 amateur competition. More than 300 students and townspeople witnessed her triumph.

Nobly upholding the male half of the east James Jacobs, Southern drawing Delta Tau Delta pledge, achieved with Miss Weaver the prize award for their play, "Between Trains." "Have a Pill," casting Robert Galtskill and Elizabeth Jones was awarded honorable mention.

William Ardery, director of Strollers acting as master of ceremonies, introduced each of the four presentations, with a short talk. The curtain was called promptly at 8 o'clock. The plays in the order of presentation by the society and the amateur dramatists characterizing them were: "An Interview," casting E. P. McClure and Earl Walton; "Between Trains," James Jacobs, Marjorie Weaver; "Dumb as a Door Knob," Bettie Boyd, Marjorie Weist, and "Have a Pill," Robert Galtskill, Elizabeth Jones. All were well staged.

Judges selecting the winning players were Miss Helen King, Miss Willie King, Prof. Enoch Grehan, Laurence Shropshire, and O. K. Barnes. Strollers held their affair last night instead of tonight as previously planned because conflicting schedules made the training school auditorium unavailable at that time.

The competing performers were chosen from the group of more than 100 students displaying their talents during the test period last week in the training school auditorium. Final selections of the players taking part in the program last night were made by Director Ardery, Horace Miner, Joseph Mills, and G. L. Crutcher, tryout judges.

DATE FOR CLASS ELECTIONS IS SET FOR OCTOBER 27

Men's Student Council Eliminates
Use of Ticket Books
in Voting

ALL ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON SAME DAY

Ballot Boxes to Be Placed on Second Floor of Administration Building

Thursday, October 27, the date set by the men's student council for the election of the officers of the four classes. The elimination of the use of student ticket books in voting was also decided on by the council at a meeting held yesterday at 4 o'clock in the Administration building.

The plans decided upon have placed the election for all class officers on the same day instead of on two consecutive days, as has been done in the past. The ballot boxes will be placed in the former reading room on the second floor of the Administration building which will be open from 9 until 12 and from 1 until 4. Two boxes will be provided, one for seniors and juniors and the other for freshmen and sophomores.

The necessity of the student ticket book was eliminated in order that the numerous students who either forget their books or misplace them will not be excluded from voting. In place of that system, checks of the voters will be made from special lists prepared for the purpose by the recorder.

Marjorie Feiber also was declared eligible as a candidate for secretary-treasurer of the freshman class after it had been shown that her petition, discarded last week for being late, was actually in the office of the dean of men on time, but had been misplaced. With the new action of the council Miss Feiber will oppose Mary Heiser, who it previously announced, would assume her duties at once due to no opposition for the position. The nominations of Alice Lang, vice-president and of Nell Montgomery for secretary-treasurer, both for the sophomore class, were withdrawn at their request.

Final arrangements of the election plans will be made by the council at a meeting of that body to be held at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Administration building.

D. O'Rourke.

The first meeting of the business staff will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the office of the Kentuckian on the second floor of the Administration building.

Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic fraternity, will meet at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Prof. Victor R. Portmann, Hilton Park. All members are requested to be present.

Guignol Takes "Let Us Be Gay" Seriously

By EUGENIE BECK

"Male or female?" Tossing back my head, I reported to the would-be Guignol doorman, "I'm the press." "With the magic words on my lips I marched by and took a seat of dignity beside Mrs. Salyers. Offering that lady a cigar, I settled myself for a pleasant chat. Mrs. Salyers informed me that the doorman was none other than Ed Bixby, who was her butler, William.

"Oh," I replied, "is this a rehearsal of Director Fowler's new play? 'Madame,' that astounding lady replied, 'your personality is so much stronger than your cigar'."

With this encouragement in mind I turned my steps backstage to interview the various members of the cast.

Upon meeting Christine Johnson musing maddly from the set, I questioned her in regard to her intentions. "I know very well who I am and what I am doing and I expect to manage my own business." Capable Chris, we believe you. So

As another of the butlers, Struthers, by name, came from the set bearing the tea things, I took it upon myself to question him in regard to the progress on the production. He answered me with utter silence and my private opinion is that with his mouth, thus well supplied with the tea cokes, he was wise in his reply. Therefore

SMOKER IS PLANNED

Capt. Clyde Grady was unanimously re-elected liason officer and faculty advisor of Seaboard and Blade honorary military fraternity at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the organization which was held in the armory at 7 o'clock Thursday night. This is the third successive time that Captain Grady has been unanimously honored by the organization.

Among the speakers who will address members of Company D, Fourth Regiment, the National Society of Seaboard and Blade at their smoker in the Armory at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night are Captain H. D. Schell and Capt. W. A. Cunningham.

October 27 is national Seaboard and Blade day. It also commemorates the birth of former President Theodore Roosevelt who possessed the qualities and ideals the society

The national society of Seaboard and Blade was founded 26 years ago at the University of Wisconsin by five cadet officers. It now has 78 chapters in 46 states and a membership of approximately 18,000.

Active membership in Seaboard and Blade is limited to outstanding cadet officers in the O. P. C. units. They are selected by members of the chapter based upon their proficiency in military science, academic subjects, character and other attributes. Officers of the regular army national guard and organized reserves may be elected to associate membership. Honorary membership is conferred on civilians.

Also, 700 letters have been sent to the high schools all over the state offering free admittance to their quads. Each high school is allowed to send 20 of its players.

The spirit, which was at a low ebb during the first few days mounted steadily through Thursday, when the boys were craving fresh meat, for the freshmen were badly battered and torn-out on their feet. As a rest for the Greensies, the second team was run against the first string. They were no better than the first.

Defense against the aerial attack is a little doleful. In other words it takes time for it to wake up. Maryland fooled the Wildcats for a time; Washington and Lee started out to fool them, but Maryland did fool them. Just once, but once was enough, for it scored the six points that tied Kentucky—a far superior team.

It seems probable that Gamage hopes to develop the pass system both pro and con, for he stresses it throughout the drill periods. One day the heavens may open up and (Continued on page 6)

TRIBUTE

Approximately 50 members of the ROTC unit at the university attended the dinner given at a downtown hotel by the Officers Reserve Corps Tuesday night to hear Capt. W. A. Cunningham deliver the principal address of the evening. This was by far the largest number of university militarists which has ever attended a dinner of the corps, and in this attendance The Kernel sees and expresses of appreciation and of good will toward the Captain who before coming to the university, served in the World War and was given the Distinguished Service Award for exceptional bravery and who has received many other honors.

Few instructors in any department of the university make themselves so popular with their students that these students will attend a meeting at which they are making an address. Many are the sort from whom students are glad to escape after class hours. When it is possible for an instructor in any department to so win the cooperation and support of his students that 50 of them attend a meeting at which he is speaking, The Kernel always will be ready to recognize him as a leader, a gentleman, and a teacher of the highest order.

THE OCTOBER CAMPUS

With a rustle of flaming leaves, an da creaking of wind-puffed boughs, the fall season has taken blushing possession of the University of Kentucky campus—a campus which annually with the advent of autumn is transformed into a pageant of glowing color.

Situated in the Old South, the university grounds with a munificence of shade trees and extent of virgin bluegrass, surpassing that of almost any other school in the country, are most responsive to Nature's moods. Even the least watchful student or the most scholarly inclined hardly can fail to appreciate the beauty of a passing Indian summer.

The Kernel has noticed that though professors fret, the eyes of even the most diligent students occasionally roam from books to the outdoor campus beautiful. We feel, however, that long drawn out as are the stolen glimpses they can never be so enjoyable or so effective an escape from book cares as a stroll about the grounds themselves.

Vine-covered mechanical hall, with its frontage of fall-flecked lawn, the dahlia gardens, one of the finest collections in the country, radiant in October flush; the botanical gardens, with their blend of shrubs and old stone; the sunken gardens of the art centre; the pattern of searing poplars swaying near prelate aches of the stadium; the autumn-dyed trees, moss-coated benches—all offer Nature's gifts to the campus wanderer. The grounds of the university greet him with colorful tribute.

The Kernel feels that the majority of university men and women appreciate the outdoor beauty of the campus in October. The Kernel has noticed that though professors fret, the eyes of even the most diligent students occasionally roam from books to the outdoor campus beautiful. We feel, however, that long drawn out as are the stolen glimpses they can never be so enjoyable or so effective an escape from book cares as a stroll about the grounds themselves.

WHY?

The Kernel is informed that when an order for books is placed at the university bookstore any copies of that book which are on reserve at the library are removed from the shelves and placed under lock and key. There they remain until it is too late for the students who need them to use them.

This plan probably is followed in order that the bookstore may be assured of a sale of every book that is ordered. This would be particularly applicable on novels and other material which is ordered by English classes at the university, which are read to fulfill an assignment and which afterwards is discarded.

That it may be necessary to assure the bookstore of the sale of every book ordered is not questioned by The Kernel. We can easily understand that when an order is placed for a book the agency placing the order expects to sell it. What we cannot understand is why it is necessary for those students who cannot afford the book to order it when it would be possible for many of them to use the books which are in the library. It naturally would be an inconvenience to them to use the library books, and at times it might even be impossible for them to do so. If they are willing to take this chance, however, and if the instructor makes no concessions to them if the book is not obtainable, then it seems only fair that they should be permitted to save the money which probably is needed much more in meeting other expenses. Such an arrangement would cause several students not to order books, but this would bring no actual loss to the bookstore.

Why the books which are ordered are taken out of circulation we do not know. We believe that this practice is unfair to the student, and, for this reason should be abolished.

OUTSIDE SUPPORT

When the train carrying the Wildcats to College Park, Maryland, passed through Ashland many persons assembled at the station to wish the squad luck in the contest and to assure it that it had the support of the citizens of Ashland. The crowd which gathered was much larger than the group which gave the team its send-off at Lexington. As Ashland the Big Blue supporters revelled through the train window, to shake hand with the Kentucky gridiron at Lexington is much more enthusiastically than they could have.

It seems that students of the university should be the most enthusiastic and loyal followers and supporters of the team, regardless of rain and it is a reflection on the student body here that—from the evidence—it is held in much higher regard by the people of the state than by the students themselves. If the citizens of Ashland can leave their homes, forego motion pictures and other entertainment to come to the station to assure our team of their support, it seems that an equal demonstration on the part of students here is the least that could be asked.

EPITAPH FOR A GERMAN SOLDIER

He thought his country right and loved her well.
He marched a hundred miles on bleeding feet,
And crouched in puddles with a crust to eat.
A bloody crust that had a powder smell.
He sang to drown the roaring of a shell.
The vision in his eyes was very sweet—
He saw a flower-bordered German street
And with a clean French bullet he fell.
And those that loved him, never are to know
If he was even shovelled in a trench,
Grotesque and grim who was their fair delight.
From that sweet seed, but recollections grow . . .
Without a ray of hatred for the French.
He fought for what was wrong—but he was right.

—LOUIS HOW

ALARM

She turned her head
And looked him in the eyes.
But not for long . . .
Say! he was quick and spry
She screamed!

The little co-ed
And the big bad mouse.

Arthur Russell Thorndike Is Noted Actor and Author

Arthur Russell Thorndike, one of the outstanding actors who will appear in "Twelfth Night" and "Hamlet" when the Ben Greet players come to the university October 27, is an author as well as an actor. His exceptional career warrants the recalling that he was born at Rochester, Kent, England, February 6, 1885, the son of Canon Arthur John Webster Thorndike. He was educated at St. George's school Windsor Castle and at the King's school, Rochester.

As a boy, Russell Thorndike sang in the choir at the Chapel Royal, Windsor Castle. He was boy soloist to the late Queen Victoria, and last sang at Windsor on the occasion of her funeral. He was a student at Ben Greet's academy of acting. He made his first appearance on the stage at the Theatre Royal, August 4, 1904, as "John Rugby" in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." In September, 1905, he came to America with Ben Greet, and made a first appearance in New York in "Henry V." He remained with Ben Greet's company for four years, playing numerous parts. On his return to England he appeared at the Court theatre, London, under William Haviland and Gerald Lawrence. In 1911, he accompanied Matheson Lang to South Africa and thence to India and the far East in extensive repertory. At the outbreak of the war, Mr. Thorndike served with the First Westminster Dragoons in Egypt and Gallipoli in 1914, and was invalided out in 1916, shortly after which he joined the "Old Vic" company under Ben Greet, where he remained

THREE TRUSTEES WILL BE ELECTED

Six Have Been Nominated for Vacancies on U. K. Board; Election to Close December 1

Election of three alumni members for the university board of trustees closes December 1, according to Wellington Patrick, secretary. Ballots, listing the six nominees, and a short biographical sketch of each were mailed October 1 to graduates of the university.

One of the three successful candidates will be appointed January 1 to fill the vacancy impending because of the expiring term of E. B. Webb, present alumni member. Nominees for the office are: L. K. Frankel, Lexington; W. H. Grady, Louisville; J. J. Miller, Lexington; Clifton L. Thompson, Jr., Lexington; E. B. Webb, Lexington; G. H. Wilson, Lexington. Following are short biographical sketches of the men:

Leon K. Frankel, Born, April 28, 1878, at Louisville, Kentucky. He was graduated from the College of Engineering, University of Kentucky in 1900 with the degree of B. M. E. He obtained the master's degree in engineering in 1902; was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity, Lamp and Cross honorary senior society, Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering fraternity, and Theta Nu Epsilon. Instructor, University of Kentucky Engineering Department and Michigan College of Mines, 1900-1904; practiced architecture and engineering, 1904-1906; professor of Design, University of Kentucky, and consulting architect and engineer, 1906-1909. Member of the firm of Frankel and Curtis, Architects and Engineers, since 1919.

Mr. Frankel, being connected with the Alumni of the University, protested against his name being entered on the election ballot at the time nominations were made. The Board ruled that it was without authority to leave off his name but gave him the privilege of making a statement in connection with his name that he does not desire to be voted for. Such a request was received from Mr. Frankel in writing and is recorded here by the Secretary of the Board on this authority.

W. H. Grady, Born, February 24, 1883, at Trenton, Kentucky. He was graduated from the College of Engineering of the University of Kentucky with the B. M. E. degree in 1905; and in 1918 he was granted the M. E. degree. While a student at the University, he was a member of the S. A. E. fraternity and the Lamp and Cross. He was quarterback on the varsity football team, catcher on the varsity baseball team, and cadet captain. Since graduation he has been erecting engineer and salesman for the Atlas Engine Company, Indianapolis, from 1905 to 1908; and since that time he has been with the American Creosoting Company, Louisville, Kentucky, as Superintendent, Assistant General Superintendent, and General Superintendent.

He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and American Wood Preservers' Association, of which he was president in 1923. He served in the U. S. Army during the World War and served for six years as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky.

J. Jay Miller, Born, August 10, 1902, at Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky. He received the Yale Cup at the Lexington Senior High School, a trophy presented annually by the Yale Alumni to the outstanding graduate of the institution. He was graduated from the College of Law in 1926 with L. B. degree. By TOTSY ROSE

The Southern Conference football championship race has narrowed down to six unbeaten and united teams. Of these eleven with perfect records only Tulane, Georgia, and Tennessee appear to be strong enough to be considered as potential champions. These favorites appear safe at least for another week as Georgia meets Vanderbilt, Tulane clashes with Georgia Tech, and Tennessee battles North Carolina.

Harry Mehre's Georgia Bulldogs, who have been growling at the championship door for two years, appear entirely too strong for the Vanderbilt Commodores. Coach Mehre has developed the greatest team that the University of Georgia has ever set upon the gridiron. It has taken him three years to develop the Notre Dame system to the perfection that his pupils have now attained. Mehre believes his team this year is one that can be compared with the great eleven that were produced at Notre Dame under the great master mind—Knute Rockne. At any rate the Bulldogs are top-heavy favorites to win from the Commodores.

At New Orleans the Green Wave of Tulane should drown any hopes of the Tech Engineers for a victory. Georgia Tech is capable of putting up a mighty good fight but Tulane is just too powerful for most any team at the present time. Bernie Bierman has developed one of the greatest lines that the south has ever produced. It has been the work of the forward wall that has brought such success to Tulane this season; against Vanderbilt last week Bierman's line was a thing of beauty, perfect coordination combined with an abundance of power, it was no wonder that Vandy was overwhelmed. It looks like an easy victory for Tulane.

Tennessee is not expecting much trouble from North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Major Neyland has again produced a wonder team—it seems that the Volunteers will have easy sailing until their last two games of the season against Vanderbilt and Kentucky. The Tar Heels are hoping to keep the score low; they are not even considering a victory.

South Carolina should win from Clemson in their annual battle at Columbia. The Clemson Tigers have been traveling a rough road all season while South Carolina has enjoyed only fair success. Washington and Lee and Virginia will meet in their traditional battle at Lexington. Dope means absolutely nothing in games involving Virginia teams, in these games past performances are forgotten—only the fighting spirit remains. We pick the Generals to win.

Florida and Auburn will battle it out at Jacksonville; this game should be a real struggle. The Gators are mighty hard to beat at Jacksonville and as both are evenly matched we pick Florida for this one reason. Alabama should be able to down Sewanee without much effort. The Crimson Tide still carries a terrible wallop regardless of the Tennessee result.

Kentucky is favored to win from V. P. I. in a battle of giants. The V. P. I. line will average 197 pounds while the Wildcat forward wall will average around 200. In the Maryland-V. P. I. game we are expecting an up-set, therefore we pick the Cadets to win. Maryland is in very poor condition and the Cadets are just now hitting their stride—it looks like a victory for V. M. I.

Duke is expecting another hard game in their clash with Wake-Forest. It seems that Wallace Wade cannot get his offensive machinery to clicking in all the games this season. Duke has been very weak on the offense. Duke looks a winner although the game should be hard fought. North Carolina State will clash with Catholic University. It is hard to get a line on this game but if the Catholics have anything at all they should win from State.

Mississippi and Southwestern appear very evenly matched in their game at Oxford. Ole Miss has been up against tougher competition than its opponents, this alone gives them a slight edge.

Louisiana State will have a hard time downing Arkansas; this game seems to be a toss-up. Arkansas at the present time is occupying the cellar position in the Southwestern Conference while Louisiana is undefeated in the Southern Conference.

Our selections for this week follows:

To Win	To Lose
KENTUCKY	V. P. I.
Tennessee	North Carolina
Georgia	Vanderbilt
Tulane	Georgia Tech
V. M. I.	Maryland
Alabama	Sewanee
South Carolina	Clemson
Florida	Auburn
Washington & Lee	Virginia
Duke	Wake-Forest
Catholic Uni.	N. Carolina State
Mississippi	Southwestern
Louisiana	Arkansas

U. K. Pitkin Club Holds First Meeting

The Pitkin Club, university luncheon group sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., held its first meeting at 12 o'clock Wednesday, in the dining room of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church. Robert Gilmore, president.

The program for the year was planned and the Rev. Howard Morgan, who led the discussion of the club last year, was selected to lead this year's group. New members were presented at this meeting and the officers were introduced to those present.

Next week Dr. A. W. Fortune, of the Central Christian church, will lead the discussion, according to the announcement issued by Reverend Morgan. Several outside speakers will lecture before the club during the year, according to present plans.

The next meeting will be held at 12 o'clock Wednesday at the same place.

NOTICES ISSUED FOR FALL SPORTS

There are several important notices emanating from the "royal court" of C. W. Hackensmith's Intramural department this week, pertaining to volleyball.

According to "Hack," volleyball practices will be held in the Men's gymnasium and not the Gym Annex. All independent teams wishing to schedule a practice night are to see the intramural director in the basement of the Alumni gym. For those teams already organized and ready to begin practicing, there is a schedule of practice nights posted on the bulletin board in the basement of the Men's gym.

The first volleyball practice held in the Men's gym, last Thursday night with a number of teams taking advantage of the opportunity to practice.

All of the second round matches of the fall sports have been run off, and the third round is now in full swing. There was some keen competition in the second rounds, and many of the victors had a tough time over-coming their opponents.

Matches in the golf tournaments have been especially hotly contested, and have brought to the fore two good performers in the persons of Haggard and Lunning. Haggard is especially clever with the woods and irons, and already has one golf tournament to his credit. He was the victor in a golf tournament held in Paris, Kentucky, this summer. Lunning also has victory in a golf tournament to his credit, having emerged the victor in a tournament held at the Picadome course this summer.

In the golf tournament, the Kappa Alphas seem to be having the most success. They have six men entered in the event and all six of them are pretty wicked with the sticks. These six men entered from the Kappa house have gone through all of their matches without suffering from a defeat.

The ancient and honorable art of tossing the iron part of the horse's hoof is under full sail. In the horseshoe singles, Malone, independent and Rosa, Kappa Sig, seem to be having the most success in tossing the shoe around the peg.

These two men will meet each other in a match in the third round and a close race for honors is in store. The date of this match will be announced later.

Alpha Gamma Delta Conducts Vespers

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority had charge of the weekly Y. W. C. A. vespers at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the recreation room of Patterson hall, introduced the annual Y. W. C. A. membership-finance drive. Julia Oakes was the leader.

Included in the program was a piano solo by Beatrice Peterman, the devotional reading by Sarah Jane Wheeler, and a finance skit. Members of the cast of the skit were: Margie Hemlepp, Julia Oakes, Margie Faulkner, Mary Alice Bates, and Bliss Warren.

Looking Over the Magazines

By NICHOLAS WINN WILLIAMS

"Street Scene"—A Digression

Those who have watched sympathetically the rise of Elmer Rice will welcome an article in the current New Republic magazine. Stark Young, one of the editors of the New Republic, reviews Mr. Rice's new play, "The Left Bank," and at the same time makes some critical comment on the work of this particular dramatist. In part, he says, "The Left Bank," well directed as it is by the author, is sure to strike many of Mr. Rice's public as a fine play. The review makes one speculate on Elmer Rice, the same man who wrote "Street Scene." Perhaps it is not the legitimate function of this column to discuss drama and the motion pictures, but a digression just now is quite justified, if we insist on justifying procedure other than that which is conventional. But then we are not sticklers for consistency or uniformity.

If one may indulge in superlatives, I may remark that "Street Scene" as a movie is one of the best of all times. Its status as a play needs no comment. Lauding a talkie in such a manner is necessarily superficial since it is not possible to see all the pictures. (Thank heaven!) Because the movies did not try to butcher an excellent play, they succeeded in creating something good. The moral is obvious but the movies are too high-brow to be moral, or rather too practical minded to understand the inference that might come out of a bedtime story. In "Street Scene" one feels that it is all tragic one feels stifled at the force of the bits of evidence as they pass by single file, each grim; even the more humorous seem sad although not melodramatic. Here one finds the hideousness of a city skyline in all its beauty, and specifically the monotone of a tenement house in New York city. People talking of the weather, hucksters selling their wares, old women gossiping all the scandal, a man worrying about his wife who is soon to have a child, the voices of children singing about the "farmer in the dell"—street scene. Elmer Rice is significant; he points the way without saying thus and so. It all goes to prove that photography may be an art, that realism may be more powerful than all our "typical" magazines. There is something very depressing about adding machines and numbers, about "L's" screaming along, about a row of buildings all in one color, about faces that seem weary and torn and sad, about—All of this is a digression, to be sure, but then—perhaps "Street Scene" itself is a wandering, in short; a digression. More power to the movies!

Lexingtonians may look back and recall the days of Centre's "Praying Colonels" upon reading an article in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post; it is called "Praying Colonels—Golden Tornadoes," and it is written by Mike Thompson with Wesley Stout. They are all there—Red Roberts, Bo McMillan, Red Weaver; there is even a photograph of a play made in the Centre-Kentucky game back in 1919. Uncle Charlie Moran was full of all kinds of surprise plays. One day out in West Virginia he sent a substitute on the field donned "in a track suit and wearing sprinter's shoes." Needless to say the man caught the pass and made the touchdown.

Fewer Americans Study in Germany Than Before War

"There are not as many American students studying in Germany as before the war," was a statement made by Dr. Lydia Roesch, German, who has recently been granted a degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Tubingen, Germany. There still are many students in the German universities but the number is undoubtedly fewer than before the war. The major subjects American students take in Germany are medicine, chemistry and philosophy.

When asked if there was coeducation in Germany, Dr. Roesch said that there was. She further stated that the majority of girls in the universities study the natural sciences and that far more study medicine than in the American colleges. Recreations and amusements for German students do not differ from ours. Tennis, swimming, and fencing are the chief forms of physical education. It is interesting to note that all freshman girls in the German universities must, as in America, take a year of physical education.

The cost of attendance at a university varies. Dr. Roesch believes that the cost depends on the student and on the town in which he studies.

A similarity of German and American universities is that they both use the lecture system extensively. A difference is that American professors require attendance at lectures while German professors do not.

Dr. Roesch stated further that journalism was not taught in the German universities.

V. P. I. PRESENTS UNIMPRESSIVE RECORD

Considers Kentucky Strong, but Gobblers To Give Their Best

By C. W. RUBLE
Sports Editor, "The Virginia Tech"

Blacksburg, Va., October 20: (Special to The Kentucky Kernel)—Following their unimpressive showing against William and Mary in Richmond in a game in which they were conceded great odds, the V. P. I. Gobblers started a week of hard training Monday, in preparation for their invasion of Kentucky this week-end. Coach Orville E. Neal, former Western Maryland star, was greatly disappointed that his eleven did not chalk up a victory over William and Mary and plans to exhaust every available means to strengthen his line-up before the game with the Wildcats.

V. P. I. gridiron fans noted with particular interest the 6-6 tie between Maryland and Kentucky Saturday, because both teams are future opponents. And it is the general opinion in the Gobblers' camp that had Kentucky got any of the breaks, the team from the Blue Grass regions would have won. But this opinion most certainly does not detract from the strength of the Maryland eleven.

V. P. I. considers Kentucky one of the three strongest rivals on her schedule and Coach Neal is taking no chances in his preparation for Saturday's battle. While the odds are unquestionably in Kentucky's favor on their home field, V. P. I. will be suffering from no inferiority complex when they race out into the Lexington stadium to give their best.

Kelly and Wright Considered Stars
The gridiron achievements of "Shipwreck" Kelly, in our opinion, one of Dixie's best backs, and Captain "Babe" Wright, star tackle, are known throughout the state of Virginia, as are others of the Kentucky cast.

With victories over Davidson College, who tied Duke Saturday, and King College; an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the unusual Georgia Bulldogs, and the regrettable tie with William and Mary, V. P. I.'s 1931 record doesn't look any too impressive. So Saturday, the Techmen will be out to give an excellent account of themselves against what we consider a worthy foe.

Line Will Be Heavy
The starting line-up which will probably face the Wildcats Saturday includes Al Seamon and Benny Palmer at the flank positions; Harry Stark, all-State tackle, and Bill Grimes, both 200-pounders at the tackle posts; "Big" Jim Swart 215-pound guard, and John Murphy who recently replaced Gene Hite in the Gobbler line, at the

Intramural Cross Country Will Be Run Today

FRESHMEN MUST GROW SMARTER TO OPPOSE 'CATS

The Freshmen may have a good football team, no doubt they have. They have a good heavy line and a fast backfield that uses plenty of head-work, but they will have to grow a whole lot bigger, get a whole lot faster and the brain will have to swell a-plenty before they can go any place against the varsity or even pretend to stop the Wildcat backfield.

Tuesday afternoon, after both the freshmen and varsity had been practicing on plays, blocking, tackling, etc., the freshmen were called over and put on defense. In spite of all the Big Greenies' could do, the Wildcat backfield showed themselves to be real wildcats by tearing the freshman line to shreds and racing down the field time after time behind perfect interference. Then Coach Gamage exclaims, "Here, take these freshmen out of here and give me some players who can pretend to stop these men, anyhow!"

So, Coach Pribble trotted his freshmen back to their side of the field, and Gamage put in his second team to try to hold the Wildcats. The freshmen weren't downhearted. No Boy! They went to work harder than ever, for they knew that pretty soon they would be called over to try V. P. I. plays against the varsity and if they were successful they would reap vengeance on the varsity.

Consequently the Freshies started to work hard in learning the V. P. I. plays and it was not long before they were called back over to the varsity side of the practice field. Coach Gamage instructed his line how to play against the opposing team's formation and the battle began.

But, almost at the instant the freshman back received the ball from center, three Wildcats were upon him and he was on the bottom of the pile. On the next play the Greenie back was in such a hurry to get the ball and get away that he dropped the ball and four varsity players were upon it before he had time to think what it was all about. This continued for two or three plays, and then again the Head Coach shouted, "Give me some opposition!" This time the freshman line was retained for a while and some second string backs substituted. But, they did the same thing—they got nowhere fast.

Therefore, again the freshmen were taken back to their field by Coaches Pribble, Forquer, and Miller, and resumed practice among themselves. But, even then they were not discouraged, for they knew that they had not gotten worse, but that the varsity had just naturally gotten a whole lot better since the first few practices of the season when the freshmen were able to make gains through the Wildcat line.

Old Football Star Wishes He Could See 'Cats vs Vols

By HARRY COSTELLO
Georgetown U. Backfield Star, 1910-11

An old football player is forever wishing.

He wishes each fall he could be 20 years old again. He wishes he could carry the ball on that particular off-tackle smash, on that particular end run, on that particular double pass.

He wishes he could be in there to punt at that particular moment, to drop-kick that particular try for a goal from field.

Yes, he just wishes, and wishes, and wishes. From September to December.

Well, this old football player is no different than the others. He wishes, too.

Maryland Deserves Praise

It wishes he could be a unit of the football team which this year is carrying the colors of the University of Kentucky. He refers to the Wildcat eleven which was Saturday held to 6-6 tie by Coach Curly Byrd's alert, intelligent, courageous, gallant Maryland team.

Touchdowns the better team (and plural is correct), Kentucky was deadlocked.

It was a virtual victory for Maryland.

All honor, all glory, all credit, congratulations and cheers were for the Terrapins at the final whistle. Maryland deserved the adulation.

The Old Liners were glorious in that tie game. They turned a single opportunity into a surety bond. They rose to the occasion, inspired, and split even. They even outsmarted the Kentuckians at just the right moment of the game. They played heads-up football, bang-up football, and came within two eyelashes of winning the battle.

Even so, this old football player will take Kentucky for his.

And, in so choosing, he intends no disparagement, disincarnation or disaster to Maryland. He admits the Terps battled the Blue Grass boys to a veritable standstill.

Kentucky Gridmen Star

But, being an old football player, he persists in carrying his point. He insists, even on Monday morning, that he wishes he could call signals for "Shipwreck" Kelly, for Urbanak, for Phipps, Richards, Andrews, Seale and the rest of the Kentuckians. Indeed, he even includes the Wildcat coach, arch enemy of young football players who are really good, in their own estimations.

What a team, even in moral defeat are those Blue Grass giants!

Kelly is as good a running back as this writer has seen in many years. He is a terrible punter, Urbanak could "make" any team in the country. He is a bullet, with his compact body and his tremendous leg drive. That youngster, Phipps, can smash through a line. It's no fool's play with him at all times. A great player, Andrews is All-America. What a tackle!

Seale. Now there's a center for you. Did you see him down the field? Deedly. Just as good in his position as Kelly, Andrews and Urbanak.

Sklinner. He's an end. Tom Shevlin come back to life. Rough as they come. And, how us old-timers love to see a good, sturdy rough and ready end!

Interesting team, that Kentucky outfit! Smashing, tearing, rough offense.

Kelly Should Run

But, let's see, the old footballer was wishing, wasn't he?

Well, he wishes Kelly would always run with the ball and never punt. He wishes every enemy play would be directed at Andrews. He wishes Andrews and Richards would always be in front of him when he carried the ball. He wishes.

After all, however, since he is an old football player, and since he can not play any more, there is one wish not so futile. He wishes he could see Kentucky and Tennessee play this year. If that game doesn't prove a "sweetheart" then this old football player will quit wishing forever.

PHOTOGRAPHERS ARE READY

Earl Surgeoner, assistant editor of the Kentuckian, has announced that some of the photographs which students had made for their own use, have been received and owners can obtain them by calling at the Kentuckian office between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The 1931-32 intramural cross country event will be run off at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The contestants will start from the cinder path on the South side of the stadium. C. W. Hackensmith, director of intramural, has announced.

Officials for the event will be Starter G. Whitlow, Judges at the finish E. Surgeoner, "Red" Swishhelm, and R. McVay. Judges at the turns, Beatty, Faber, Alexander, Morgan, Scott, Hennessy and Lyle.

This year's time is expected to be somewhat better, as there are several men who have practice rounds over the course in better than seven minutes. The fastest time for a practice round was turned in by O. B. Coffman who has been over the course in six minutes and 15 seconds. Second place last year was won by B. Massie, Phi Delta Theta.

and third position went to G. Gottlieb, Independent. The fraternity team winning was Phi Sigma Kappa. The route of the course, which is approximately one mile and a quarter in length is as follows: the contestants will start from the "hundred yard dash" mark on the south side of the stadium, go around the quarter mile track once, thence out through the practice field gate in the rear of the Men's gymnasium, cross over the gulley on the west side of the small wooden bridge. They will then follow the small stream to Limestone street, south on Limestone street to the Agricultural building. The runners will then pass in the rear of the "Ag" building, in front of Memorial hall, down through the hollow in front of the Dispensary continuing across the campus and in front of the Women's gymnasium. Recrossing the gulley back to the West gate up through the practice field to finish at the starting point.

'32 BASKETBALL PRACTICES HELD BY COACH RUPP

The 1931-32 basketball season is three days on its way toward success or failure. Twenty-eight men have reported to Coach Rupp for early season practice, and for three days they have gone through preliminary drills and fundamentals.

Due to a nine-game football schedule, Rupp will be greatly handicapped as to material as the football squad will claim Ellis Johnson, Darrell Darby, George Yates, and Charlie Worthington until about the tenth of December. Out of the material that reported for equipment early this week, and what more may turn out the coach will have to build a machine of sufficient calibre to cope with Georgetown and Carnegie Tech whom they play with in a week after the grid season closes.

Many of the players that reported had not appeared on the local courts before, and as yet, Coach Rupp has not had a fair chance to size them up. The squad will not be cut for at least two weeks which will give any talent plenty of time to burst out. Meanwhile the coach is making a plea for more material. He says, "In a school of this size I know there are better players than have shown up so far. I want big, strong, tall boys able to stand the gaff of a hard season. The boys who have turned out look like a good bunch and I hope I can find in them some of the ball players that I have been looking for."

The list of candidates that reported to "Red" Reynolds, manager, for equipment the first day are: T. Helm, L. Conleton, W. Conleton, H. Johnson, W. Oaks, J. Salyers, F. Settle, C. Yancey, H. Oder, J. Atchison, J. Hughes, J. Demolsey, R. Clark, L. Crump, B. Hartin, K. Hoperton, G. George, R. Money, H. Vincent, L. Davis, J. Maguire.

Trigg, 43; R. Smith, 44; Bushbaum, 45; H. Finn, 46; A. Black, 47; C. Lovell, 48; M. Darnell, 49; W. Shafer, 50; W. Alver, 51; H. Baker, 52; B. Dawson, 53; R. Whiddle, 54; G. George, 55; V. Johnson, 56; Daugherty, 57; E. Farmer, 58; Williams, 59; Longley, 60; S. Reed, 61; Donovan, 62; Vinson, 63; R. Browner, 64; J. Jones, 65; C. Applegate, 66; J. Kinchloe, 67; J. Statement!

In a statement issued to the Associated Press yesterday concerning post-season charity football games, Coach Harry Gamage said, "I believe that every college or university football team should do its utmost in the way of a charity game for the benefit of the unemployed, either by a post-season game, where possible, or by the donation of the receipts from some of their regularly scheduled games."

With this view in mind, I am willing to prepare our boys for a charity game with any team, at any place that the Athletic Council should schedule for us."

Crippled Cynthia Canceled Football Game with Purples

Cynthiana high school has notified Coach Pete Kemper of University high school that the Cynthia Bulldogs who were scheduled to meet the Purples on Pleadome's field Friday would be unable to play the game due to the fact that the Cynthia squad is in a badly crippled condition.

The Purples are in fine shape, with the exception of Steers, guard, who received a bad leg from the Springfield game. Snap and vigor have been evident in every Purple workout this week and the Purples are expected to turn in a victory over their opponents next week.

The Cynthia team, after having lost all its starts this season, received injuries in the game played with Falmouth, Friday, that prevented further continuation of football. The team suffered the worst defeat in its history, losing to Falmouth 121-0.

Wildcats to Meet Cobblers of V. P. I.

rain football into the arms of Kentucky's average receivers. And such things would be a result of some heavenly act as things look now. Virginia Tech brings a line to Lexington that will outweigh the starting lineup for Kentucky. Darrell Darby, mighty-midget will perform at guard, and Baldy Kipping will carry in the stead of Ken Andrews who deserve a rest.
In the center of the Gobbler line there is one Captain Gene Brown, all-Virginia center, who is considered mighty fine back in Virginia, but in the center of the Big Blue forward wall there is one Frank Seale from Virginia, whom we consider mighty fine. It will be interesting to watch the two fight it out. It appears that the Tech cadets will bring along at least three sophomore backfield stars. There are two or three first year men on the Wildcats team also. Kereheval will start at fullback, and Pug Bach will see service if he lives til then.

V. P. I. holds a victory over Davidson College, who tied Duke last Saturday. Duke is considered formidable by Kentuckians and the scores of the Tech and Davidson games may give the fans some idea of the strength of the team that the Gobblers will put on the field. Strollers Hold Amateur Night will be staged just before the Christmas holidays with a probable run of three nights. The play to be offered will be announced this week and tryouts are to be held in the immediate future.

Stroller amateur night has been an annual affair at the university since 1918 when it was inaugurated at the request of the university administration. At that time its specific function was to discourage the yearly street congregation of students in Halloween night by providing worthwhile entertainment. Since that time as the practice of Halloween street-roving subsided, the date of the amateur night production has been changed.

Each year the organization chooses a number of plays for tryouts by Stroller aspirants. From this group are selected the amateur night performers and from the remainder, giving creditable performances, are chosen the Stroller eligibles. According to the director, more students tried out this year than ever before.

The names of persons designated Stroller eligibles:

Phil Ardery, Virginia Bosworth, Elizabeth Greene, Marjorie Weaver, Elizabeth Jones, Katherine Walsh, Donald McGurk, Margaret Sider, Britton Boyd, Caroline Stuart, Gene Lanning, A. Engineers Hear Program Given By Ratliff Singers

The engineering student body was entertained at its general convocation held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in Memorial hall by a group of colored singers from the Ratliff Industrial Institute.

The program, which was presented through the efforts of the faculty of the College of Engineering consisted of a group of songs by the Ratliff quartet and a number of solos. The selections were chiefly negro spirituals and were enthusiastically received by the engineers.

The singers are members of a group of students who, under the direction of Doctor Ratliff, are touring Kentucky, securing funds with which to operate their institution. The school is located in Louisville and is devoted to the training of negro youths in the skilled trades in which they are naturally adept.

Fifteen was established on the campus as an honorary sophomore women's honorary organization to encourage high scholarship and participation in activities among the freshman women. Dean Sarah C. Blanding, in cooperation with the Women's Self Government association, chose 15 members of the sophomore class for the semester ending June, 1931, as charter members, and they met for the first time at a banquet on March 12.

As its first project the organization sponsored an all-university women's song contest in which ten sororities, a group of town girls and a group from the women's dormitories took part. It is planned to make the sing an annual affair on the campus.

Dean Sarah C. Blanding and Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, assistant dean of women, will be guests of honor at the installation banquet.

There are chapters of Cwens at the University of Pittsburgh, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, the University of Missouri, Pennsylvania State University, Allegheny College, Meadville, Pennsylvania, Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, and the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Schenley Park, Pennsylvania.

let's all go to

Where Turkish tobacco grows

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples.

Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff!

Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

In every important tobacco-growing center Chesterfield has its own tobacco buyers

XANTHI . . CAVALLA . . SMYRNA

. . SAMSOUN . . famous tobaccos!

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee!

You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend.

This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.
